

CO. CONTROL OF PENSIONS IS TABOOED

Illinois Assembly Is Told Washington Won't Allow It

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—The Witt Billman, secretary of the Legislative Reference Bureau, today told a committee of the whole in the house that he gained the impression during a conference on social security in Washington that the state must be given more active control over county administration than is provided in the present bill.

He said he and Montgomery S. Winning, Assistant Attorney General who accompanied him last week to confer with members of the National Social Security Board, also drew the conclusion that the present provisions for payment of the state's share of old age pensions was satisfactory.

The language of the act, now awaiting amendment in the senate, would not prevent payment, of a $30 pension monthly, with the state's share limited to $15, he said.

Demand State Control

Billman said that a companion bill with its present provision for appointment of county administration boards by county court judges was "unacceptable." He said national board members pointed out that the bill did not give the state sufficient control over possible inefficient county administrations.

As a replacement, he suggested nomination of board members by county judges, and appointment by the state, with the latter holding power of removal.

"We got no 'yes or no' answer," Billman said. "The board would not pass officially on our bills. Instead we conferred with members of the board and from their conversation drew conclusions which are what we are giving you today."

The committee of the whole was called by Speaker John P. Devine after several members objected to a previous plan for the two men to report to a conference of a few leaders. Devine said it was not his intention to shut out anyone and consequently he placed Benjamin Adamowski of Chicago, majority leader, in the chair to preside over the committee session.

Amendment Needed

Billman said apparently the only amendment needed to the main old age pension bill was one providing for payment of the pension even though no federal funds had been appropriated for social security by January 1.

Several members, including almost all the Republican leaders, questioned Billman closely on whether the present language of the bill would provide a maximum pension of $30 or $15.

R. G. Soderstrom, Streator Republican, who raised that point prior to the Washington trip, insisted that to pay a $30 pension the bill must be raised to that amount.

Billman, however, reading the federal law, said the federal government would advance half the total pension and not merely reimburse the state after the pension had been paid.

Billman Explains

"It is plain that because it is an advance, they will pay half the total pension, matching our $15," Billman said.

Reed Cutler, Lewistown Republican, pointed out that Montana's pension was $20 a month.

"Ours provided $15 a month. If Montana will only get half of $20 from the federal government, why should we expect under the present bill to get more than $7.50?"

Billman said Illinois would get $15 from the federal government because the maximum pension here would be $30, whereas the limit is $20 in Montana.

IERC Employees to be Reduced: Horner

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Governor Horner today announced that as soon as the works progress program in Illinois is in full swing between 1,000 and 3,000 employees of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission will be discharged.

The peak of the IERC payroll was about 10,000 employees, according to information here.

Horner said the exact date of reducing the IERC staff depended entirely on completion of the transfer of more than 200,000 persons from IERC rolls to WPA projects. Litcher, director of the commission will make possible the reduction, he said.

The commission will expire entirely in 1937, according to provisions of the law under which it was established.

For Evacuation

Nanking, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New York announced today it was holding a motorship at Changsha, Hunan province, in readiness to assist the evacuation of 100 American refugees.

The Americans include families engaged in both business and missionary work. They are fleeing before the advance of thousands of Communists across Hunan province.

BIDS ON DIXON SEWER PROJECT WERE RECEIVED

Contract Let to Firm in Chicago Subject to Poll Result

Seven proposals for the city's bonds for the proposed construction of a sewage treatment plant, were received yesterday afternoon, when Mayor William Slothower and City Clerk Blake Grover met in the mayor's office to receive bids. Representatives of several of the large bonding firms were present and submitted bids. In each instance the representatives after examining the city's financial rating commended the officials for the fine condition of the city's finances.

The bids received were for $145,000 in city bonds subject to the special election to be held Dec. 16. Subject to the result of the poll, the contract for the sale of the bonds was awarded the firm of Paine, Webber & Company of Chicago. The premium offer of this firm amounted to $2,187.00 with the provision that future legal proceedings and the cost of furnishing the bonds would be included. The premium on the bonds of the firm amounted to almost $2.00 on the $100 valuation.

Would Pay Costs.

Mayor Slothower stated this morning that the premium offered the city would more than offset the preliminary expense in preparation of plans and specifications and the engineering costs of the proposed project. The firms submitting bids for the bonds and the amounts of premium offered the city were as follows:

Paine, Webber & Co., Chicago—$2,187.00
White-Phillips Co., Davenport, Iowa—$1,627.50
Municipal Bond Corp., Chicago—$1,095.25
Lewis-Pickett & Co., Chicago—$725.00
Ballman & Main, Inc., Chicago—$1,450.00
Robinson & Co., Chicago—$1,935.00
Glenn F. Coe, Dixon—$1,450.00.

Mrs. Lester Stacey Passed Away Monday; Short Illness

Mrs. Lester Stacey passed away at 4:30 yesterday afternoon at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital, her death terminating a brief illness and following an operation.

She is survived by her husband and three daughters, Mrs. Merle Lightner, Mrs. John Slain and Mrs. Ray Wilson, all of this city. Funeral services will be conducted from the home at 81 Lincoln avenue Thursday afternoon at 2 P. M. Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church officiating and with interment in Oakwood. The obituary will be published later.

RESCUED FROM LAKE

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Four men adrift on Lake Michigan in a disabled fishing boat were rescued today by coastguardsmen 15 miles off the Chicago shoreline. They became stranded when the gasoline engines of the boat failed.

TWO DIED IN CRASH

Chicago—Two persons were killed when a Milwaukee railroad train hit their car. They were Mrs. Mabel McClelland, 45, and her daughter, Ella, 20. Mrs. McClelland's husband, Charles, 45, was seriously injured.

Mother of 14-Year-Old Child, Now Wife and Mother, Kidnaped 8 Years Ago Will Fight On

Lewisburg, W. Va., Dec. 3.—(AP)—The deadlock in the tangled Bradley-Roman kidnapping case left the embittered mother of 14-year-old Dorothy Evelyn Roman still determined today to "see justice done."

A jury disagreed last night on charges that William Marvin Roman abducted Dorothy Evelyn Bradley—then only six years old—from this timberland country eight years ago.

Mrs. Richard Bradley, who preferred the kidnapping charges, determinedly announced she will ask the courts to send her daughter, now Roman's wife and mother of his son, to an industrial school or religious institution.

"We know we have lost Evelyn forever," she said. "Roman has turned her back on us and we are about turned on her."

The story of the couple's wanderings over half the United States and the marriage two years ago will be told again at the January court term. Roman, 39-year-old itinerant worker, went back to jail. The child wife and her baby, aged 15 months, returned to the home of Roman's parents.

The girl testified at the trial, saying her husband was "a good man." He was good to me. He gave me things. He gave me good clothes to wear and I married him because I loved him."

FIRST CALL FOR GOODFELLOWS IS ISSUED TODAY

Santa Claus' Envoys in Dixon Facing Unusual Task This Year

BULLETIN

The first Goodfellow of the 1935 campaign volunteered his donation this morning before there had even been an announcement that the campaign was under way. Frank H. Kreim, well known local merchant sent $5 to start the fund off.

Goodfellows, now is the time for all Goodfellows to come to the aid of their young fellow countryman. Of course, most Goodfellows work at their sideline all times of the year.

FIREMEN WILL HELP

The members of the Dixon fire department have again offered their services in the way of repairing broken toys. These toys will then be distributed by the Goodfellow Club to the youngsters in Dixon who need help to have a happy Christmas. The firemen have been doing this splendid work for several years.

If you have any kind of Christmas toys to give away, either in good condition or bad, want you send them to the Dixon fire department at the city hall. They will reach some eager little soul all fixed up and painted, just like new. Toys should be sent to the fire department at once so that the work may be completed before Christmas.

There are hundreds of families of youngsters in Dixon this year who will have no Christmas, no Santa Claus, unless a Goodfellow comes to their rescue. Won't you take the name and address of one or more worthy families and see to it that their Christmas is as happy and cheery as possible? Apply to the Goodfellow Club, care the Evening Telegraph. If you cannot attend personally to these Christmas baskets you may donate any amount of money that you care to the Goodfellow Club and your money will be spent without one cent of overhead expense.

Mother of Mai Gen. McArthur Dies in Philippine Islands

Manila, P. I., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Arthur MacArthur Sr., mother of Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, died today after a long illness.

She had been ill in her hotel suite since she arrived in Manila two months ago. Special medicine was brought from the United States by the China Clipper, but it arrived too late to benefit the 82-year-old woman.

General MacArthur, former Chief of Staff of the United States Army, is military adviser of the commonwealth government of the Philippine Islands.

Mrs. MacArthur was born in Norfolk, Va., in 1853. She was the widow of Maj. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, former military governor of the Philippines.

High School Boy's Bicycle is Stolen

The police department is conducting a search for a red bicycle, equipped with a parcel basket, which was stolen from the E. C. Smith school. The bicycle was the property of Russell Smith, who lives west of Dixon on the Rock Island road and who he uses daily to ride from his home to school, a distance of about two miles.

The police are also seeking the owner of a woman's brown purse, which was found on the parking space west of Calena avenue yesterday afternoon. The purse has initials "F. W." and contained a small amount of change and other articles.

Some Oddities in Today's A. P. World News Report

WHY, OFFICER!

Hugo, Okla., Dec. 3.—(AP)—B. B. Burroughs, 28 years a deputy sheriff, slept soundly while burglars took $10 and a watch from the trousers he had placed under his pillow.

HE HIBERNATES

Portland, Ore., Dec. 3.—(AP)—George Dixon is spending the winter as usual in jail. For the tenth year, Dixon has appeared in the fall, pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge, and asked for a long term—four months.

DOE'S OWN FAULT

Crystal Falls, Mich., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Game wardens decided that if Felix Myers killed a doe it was the animal's own fault and not a willful violation of the game law against shooting female deer. The doe carried a six point set of horns and Myers mistook it for a buck.

NOT NEEDED NOW

Waukesha, Wis., Dec. 3.—(AP)—After 50 years as a harness maker Edward Brown, 70, gave up when he reflected that he hadn't made a complete harness in the last decade. "Fellows like us aren't needed any more, I guess," he said, and closed his shop.

WAS CATCHING

Boston, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Herbert L. Ohrenberger of Dedham thought the prisoner was funny—and his hearty laugh boomed out in a news-reel theater. The rest of the patrons followed suit. Afterward the manager gave Ohrenberger a life pass, saying he has "the most infectious laugh and we appreciate your being in the audience."

NEW DEAL UNDER INDICTMENT OF ILL. CHAMBERS

Virtually An Unanimous Opinion is Against Administration

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Recent trends in federal legislation today were under the virtually unanimous indictment of 101 organizations in 46 Illinois cities.

Chambers of Commerce and trade associations in the several cities expressed their opposition in a poll conducted by the United States Chamber of Commerce. Four questions were asked:

1. Should there be extension of federal jurisdiction into matters of state and local concern?
2. Should the federal government at the present time exercise federal spending power without relation to revenue?

3. Should there be government competition with private enterprise for regulatory or other purposes?
4. Should all grants of authority by congress to the executive department of the federal government be within clearly defined limits?

Three Exceptions

With the exception of three, all Illinois organizations cast negative votes on the first question. Each organization cast from one to ten votes, depending on its size.

The Linen Supply Association of America, the Memorial Craftsmen of America and the National Association of Retail Grocers, all of Chicago, voted affirmatively on the first query with a total of 17 ballots.

A chorus of negative votes greeted the second question. Only the Mattoon Association of Commerce, which cast half a vote, responded affirmatively.

But two organizations, the Cairo Association of Commerce, with one vote, and the Mattoon association, voted affirmatively on the third question.

Dixon C. C. in Poll

Negative votes from a quintet of Illinois organizations prevented a unanimous affirmative vote on the fourth question. Negative votes were cast by the Advertising Metal Sign & Display Manufacturers' Association, the American Feed Manufacturers association, the National Restaurant Association, the East Moline Association of Commerce, and the Highland Park Association of Commerce.

Other Illinois organizations participating in the poll included: Chambers and associations of commerce in Aurora, Belleville, Bellevue, Bloomington, Carbondale, Centralia, Champaign, Charleston, Clinton, DeKalb, Dixon, East Alton, East St. Louis, Edwardsville, Elgin, Freeport, Galesburg, Harvard, Havana, Highland Park, Joliet, Keokuk, La Salle, Mattoon, Moline, Mt. Vernon, Ottawa, Pana, Paris, Pekin, Peoria, Rockford, Rock Island, Streator, Taylorville, Watseka, and Waukegan.

OTTAWA MURDER TRIAL

Ottawa, Ill.—Charles Ranzany, 19, went on trial on a charge of playing his stepfather, Louis Sollo, 45, whose body was found last September on the bank of a creek in Grundy county.

Youthful Prisoner Tried Twice to Take Own Life In Lee County Jail Yesterday

Alfred Manning's Suicide Attempts are Frustrated

Alfred Manning, 23-year-old prisoner in the Lee county jail where he is held in connection with the holdup of James Cledon in his confectionery store several days ago, as well as the attempted holdup of Walter Trautman, ticket agent at the Northwestern passenger station, last February, made two unsuccessful attempts to take his life last evening. Both attempts were unsuccessful, other prisoners interfering and calling Sheriff Ward Miller and other attendants at the jail, who gave the youthful prisoner immediate attention.

Manning's first effort at self destruction was made about 4 o'clock. Prisoners were at liberty in the corridor and missed Manning for a short time. Investigating one of the inmates discovered the youth standing before a mirror hacking away at his throat with a safety razor blade. He succeeded in slashing both sides of his neck, but missed the jugular vein and his wind pipe.

The prisoners wrested the razor blade from his grasp as he fought back at them and Sheriff Miller was summoned. Manning had succeeded in inflicting a deep wound on the left side of his neck, where an artery was severed, but the gash on the right side did not cause any serious injury. He bled freely until a physician, who was summoned hurriedly, arrived and dressed the injuries.

Celbrates Sound Alarm

Manning's second attempt at self destruction occurred at 6:30 last evening and as in the first instance, other prisoners, who were closely noting his actions, sounded an alarm. Manning had absented himself from the other prisoners after the supper hour, and wandered into his own cell, where he lay down on his bed. Very quietly, he tore strips from a blanket, with which he bound his ankles together. He then took a pillow, tore it so as to expose the feather stuffing and placed this on a pile of papers beneath his bunk. He then set the paper afire.

He had taken the precaution to bind his ankles fast to the steel bunk and after starting the fire, bound his wrists above his head and lay flat on his back to await suffocation. The odor of burning cloth and scorching feathers reached the other prisoners who were on top of the cell block and again they summoned the sheriff and his assistants. The fire was quickly extinguished, Manning's bonds were released and after being thoroughly searched, he was placed in a closed cell for the night. He suffered no ill effects from his second attempt at suicide, and cursed the sheriff, his attendants and the other prisoners as he was released from his own bindings and placed in another cell.

No Word From Sir

Last week Manning was said to have written a letter to his father in Chicago requesting that the parents visit him, but he has received no reply to the communication. He has repeatedly expressed a contempt for the Chester state institution, to which he believes he will be committed, and has made numerous requests to be sent to some other institution. Other prisoners stated last evening that Manning had appeared quite despondent since last Friday when he expected some word from his father. The youthful prisoner was carefully guarded during the night after his cell and clothing had been carefully searched and every article with which he might attempt to suicide had been removed. Today he appeared none the worse for his experiences of last evening, but maintained an apparent bitter feeling toward all with whom he came in contact.

Deaths in Dixon Township Exceed Births in Month

Deaths in Dixon township far exceeded the number of births for the month of November, according to the records in the office of Registrar Blaise C. Goyer. There were 41 deaths recorded during the month 18 of which occurred at the Dixon state hospital. There were 14 births recorded for the month as follows: Dale Edward Anderson, Dixon; Charles Roger Richman, Dixon; Coral Jean Hoover, Byron; Richard Neil Powell, Polo; Marvin John Grobe, Dixon; Ann Murray, Peoria; Anthony Wenzlar, Dixon; John Dwight Price, Jr., Oregon; Marilyn Lavon Minion, Polo; Norman Jo Greenman, Sterling; John William Leonard, Dixon; Roberta Louise Downs, Dixon; William Martin Ogen, Dixon; and Richard Louis Mulkins, Dixon.

LIVERMORE BOY GAINS SLOWLY MOTHER FREED

Santa Barbara, Calif., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Jesse Livermore Jr., 16, son of the Wall Street trader, gained slowly today in his fight against infection from a bullet wound as his mother prepared her defense against a charge she attempted to kill him.

The 38-year-old matron, Mrs. Dorothy Wendt Longcope, pleaded innocent to the accusation of assault with intent to commit murder. Her preliminary hearing was set tentatively for next Monday.

Free on $6,000 bond after a week end in jail, she sought means to regain custody of her youngest son, Paul, 14, living with the senior Livermore at a hotel here since his father's arrival Saturday. The boy was awarded to Mrs. Longcope when the couple was divorced in 1932.

With the wounded boy's condition still grave, physicians barred both his parents from his sick room, despite repeated entreaties from Mrs. Longcope.

Crazy Father's Act Makes Three Small Children Orphans

East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Three small children were orphans today following the shooting of a woman by her estranged husband, who then killed himself.

Mrs. Rosella Henson, 27-year-old waitress employed at the East St. Louis high school, was shot twice by Theodore Henson, about 35, as she walked from her home last night. Henson then shot himself in the head.

Mrs. Henson carried in her purse a note from her husband warning her of "bad luck."

Henson, who formerly worked at the National Stockyards, was said to have been unemployed recently. Their children are Louise, 10 years old, Theodore, Jr., 9, and Paul, 4.

Will of Willow Cr. Woman was Probated

The will of the late Mrs. Annie C. Hanson of Willow Creek township, whose death occurred Nov. 1, was filed for probate before Judge Leech in the county court this morning. The instrument provides that certain proceeds of the estate, which is valued at $2,500, be used for the care of a son, Henry Hanson, who is unable to care for himself. Of the properties not used in the above bequest equal division is made of a one-fifth share to the children of a deceased son, Eddie. A son Andrew and three daughters, Rose, Bond, Annie Knudtson and Julia George are to receive one-fifth respectively. The son Andrew is named executor of the estate.

Canadian Pact is Assailed by Former Maine Governor

Carbondale, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Rep. Ralph O. Brewster of Maine told a Republican mass meeting here that in the new Canadian tariff the United States "trades a market of 100,000,000 consumers for a market of 10,000,000 consumers."

For every prospective customer we get in Canada," Brewster asserted in his talk last night, "we give Canada 10 prospective customers in the United States."

"But this is only the beginning of the farce, since every concession in our tariff barriers made to Canada is instantly applicable to every other commercial and agricultural nation, without reciprocal concessions of any kind."

Brewster, former governor of Maine, appeared with former Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria who also attacked the Democratic national administration.

Winter Returns

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Another touch of wintry weather came to the middle-west today, with snow reported in Illinois, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and in part of eastern Wisconsin. The fall, however, was not large enough to cause traffic delays.

The lowest unofficial temperature recorded was 7 degrees below zero at Virginia in northern Minnesota.

Lower temperatures generally were predicted for the central-west tonight.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL TO DIXON MAN IN ROCKFORD

Jacob Ortgiesen Passed Away There After Automobile Crash

Jacob Ortgiesen, 521 Pine street, this city, one of the seven Dixon men injured in an automobile accident just west of Rockford on state highway route 2 at 6:30 Monday morning passed away at the Rockford hospital this morning at 7 o'clock. He was the most severely injured of the seven occupants of the wrecked car and was believed to have sustained a broken neck. A post mortem examination was being conducted in Rockford this afternoon to determine the exact extent of his injuries.

Mr. Ortgiesen and the six other occupants of the car were employed at the plant of the J. I. Case Company in Rockford, and all were enroute to their duties when the car in which they were riding crashed head-on into another machine which was coming toward them and suddenly swerved directly in their traffic lane. The second car was driven by George Langley, Rockford blacksmith, who was being held at the sheriff's office at Rockford yesterday for questioning in connection with the accident.

Others Badly Hurt.

Mr. Ortgiesen was the first of a family of 13 children to meet his death. He is survived by his widow, one son, Donald, seven daughters and five sisters. Final arrangements had not been completed at a late hour this afternoon, pending the result of the autopsy and coroner's inquest at Rockford.

Reports from the Rockford hospital this afternoon indicated that at least three more other occupants of the wrecked Dixon car were in a serious condition. Albert Frase, according to the report was in a dangerous condition. He sustained fractures of both legs and a deep gash on the head. Harry Wilson, driver of the car, was said to be suffering from chest injuries, the extent of which had not been determined following an x-ray examination this morning. Louis Jones, who sustained a broken arm and cuts and bruises about the head, was also held at the hospital and it was indicated that it would be several days before either of the three men would be released.

JAIL BREAKS IN 2 CITIES WERE FATAL

Muskogee, Okla., and Boston Scenes of Breaks Today

Muskogee, Okla., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Six prisoners, including four convicted in the simultaneous robbery of two Okemah, Okla., National banks Dec. 22, 1934, broke from the city-federal jail here today after critically wounding Chief of Detectives Ben Bolton.

One of the prisoners was fatally wounded by Police Chief Marsh Corgan.

Four of the five who escaped in a commandeered car were members of the "Irish O'Malley gang of kidnapers and bank robbers."

They are Dan Heady of Kansas City, Mo., Dewey Gilmore, Dallas, Tex., Russell Cooper, Fort Smith, Ark., and Leonard Short, Galena, Mo., wrestling promoter.

The fifth man was identified by officers as Don Garrett, under seven year sentence to Leavenworth penitentiary for a Mann act violation.

Head's Wife Held

The slain prisoner, John Black burn, was shot through the side. He asked that a priest be called to administer last rites of the Catholic church a few moments after he was taken to a hospital.

Heady, Cooper and Gilmore were convicted on two counts in the double Okemah bank robbery, one for each of the two banks that were robbed. All faced possible 45 year terms.

Short was convicted on one count. A short time after the break, Heady's wife was located in a hotel here, arrested and placed in jail. Officers said Mrs. Heady visited her husband a short time before the prisoners made their dash.

Hospital attendants said Detective Chief Bolton was sinking rapidly from a bullet wound in the head.

JAIL BREAK FOILED

Dec. 3.—(AP)—A desperate attempt by five Massachusetts prisoners to escape from a prison convicted today and ended in failure. One of the dead was a civilian employee. The other was a prisoner.

The dead: Louis Richards, 27, of Somerville, civilian truck driver, beaten to death by escaping convicts.

Philip Naples, 32, of Worcester, serving a term for armed robbery, shot down by a prison guard.

Prison officials said Richards had backed up his five-ton truck to the prison print shop when five convicts sprang upon him, battered his head with an iron pipe and hurled him.

VILLAGE WIPED OUT BY SLIDE: ALL IN IT DEAD

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A landslide buried the village of Verde Cocha early today, killing its 50 inhabitants in an instant.

Inhabitants of the area around Huigra where Verde Cocha was situated, heard a deep rumbling underground at 3:15 A. M.

No one was left alive to tell whether any of the inhabitants of the village, set in the Andes, were awakened before the slide hit.

The great mass of rocks and dirt slid over a front of nearly two miles, "weeping everything from the grey and green mountainside."

The Ecuadorian government is sending relief workers into the area, for the railroad line was not caught by the slide.

Not only was Verde Cocha erased from the map, but large portions of two widely-known ranches were wiped away.

These two are the haciendas known as Yimacay and Guayari. Large numbers of cattle were destroyed.

to the pavement. William MacDonald, a convict helper on the truck, also was attacked.
Smashed Through Gates
Racing the truck madly through the big prison yard, the convicts smashed it successively through three sets of gates.
As the big vehicle roared through the yard the prisoners encountered Edward J. Shaughnessy, a guard, whom they struck across the back of the head and slashed. Next the truck struck another guard, Michael O'Donnell, inflicting minor scalp wounds.
As the truck rammed through the outer gates, the convicts leaped upon a truck operated by William Wilson, drew weapons, and told him to "step on it." Wilson promptly stalled the machine.
By this time, alarms were sounding throughout the institution. Thirty police patrol cars summoned by radio were converging on the scene. Fire apparatus roared to the scene.
Others Wounded
A guard shot down Naples. The other four scattered through the Boston and Maine railroad freight yards. A railroad policeman seized two at gunpoint. Two others took refuge beneath a potato shed and were surrounded by police who routed them with tear gas and shot one of them.
Prison officials later announced that Edward McGardie, 24, and William McManus, 27, suffered gunshot wounds and that two other prisoners, Frank Joyce, 21, and Charles O'Brien, 28, were captured without suffering injury.

Foxx Declares He Will Be Sold By Mack's Athletics

Philadelphia, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx has it direct from headquarters—from no less an authority than Connie Mack, himself, he revealed today—that the Athletics are going to sell him.
The burly slugger said he did not know what uniform he would be wearing next year but he emphasized that the club that gets him will have to raise the ante considerably over what the A's are putting into their first baseman's pay envelope now.
Recent reports have had him going variously to Boston, Chicago, Cleveland and New York.
"These sale rumors don't surprise me," he said, "because when I saw Connie several weeks ago, he told me that I was to be sold. But I would like to know where I'm going to land x x x
"One thing is certain. The club that gets me will have to declare a new deal on the salary question, no matter if my present contract still has two seasons to go."

SUPREME COURT OF STATE CONVENED AT NOON

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Two cases of national interest are on the docket of the Illinois Supreme Court, which convened today for its December term.
The court will hear the appeal of the Chicago park district, which defied the use of Soldier Field for a mass meeting, to be addressed by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest.
Also before the court will be the disbarment proceedings of Louis Piquett of Chicago, attorney for John Dillinger, slain gangster.
Father Coughlin wanted to address followers of his National Union for Social Justice at the big Chicago stadium, but the park board claimed his talk would be political and controversial. Superior Judge James J. Kelly of Chicago granted the militant priest a writ of mandamus, however. The case is scheduled for hearing December 18.
Piquett, who was named "Target No. 1" in the government's drive against lawyers for gangsters, was recommended for disbarment after a Federal court at Chicago convicted him on a charge of conspiring to harbor and conceal a fugitive from justice.

Browns May Benefit $350,000 From Ball Estate; Deal Made

St. Louis, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A price of $350,000 was reported today to have been set by the Phil Ball estate for the St. Louis Browns of the American league and the team's lone farm, San Antonio of the Texas league.
An authoritative source said a group of St. Louis business men and sportsmen has completed most of the financial arrangements necessary to meet the estate's sale price.
The purchasing syndicate was reported, however, to be seeking financial pledges of $500,000, the additional $150,000 to be used to buy players needed to rebuild the Browns, seventh in the league last season.
A spokesman said efforts would be made to complete the deal with the estate at the major league meeting at Chicago next week.
George Sisler, one of the greatest first basemen of all time and once manager of the Browns, is a member of the group formed to purchase the teams.

FIELD GOALS, LOST ART, MAY BE RESTORED

If Plans To Return Posts to the Goal Line Succeed

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Growing sentiment for restoring goal posts to the goal line may develop into an organized demand by football coaches at the rules committee meeting in February. Chick Meehan, Manhattan mentor, said today.
"With a few exceptions the art of field goal kicking and drop-kicking has been lost ever since the goal posts were moved back to the rear boundary of the end zone," said Meehan.
"Professional football leaders kept the posts on the goal line—where they belong—with the result that the pros play a more spectacular game."
"The colleges moved the uprights back so as to remove the danger of players colliding with them head-on or suffering other forms of injury. I don't think there has been a goal post casualty—major or minor—in pro football."
"Sandbach's performance for Princeton against Yale was remarkable. His 15-yard field goal actually amounted to a 25-yard boot and his five perfect extra-point kicks traveled 15 yards. Bing the posts back and fellows like Sandbach and Monk Moscrip of Stanford will restore a lot of the thrills that have been lost."

NEWS of the CHURCHES

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH
Twelve men have pledged themselves and were commissioned at the Immanuel Lutheran church, Rev. A. G. Scheuching, Pastor, at the Sunday morning service, last Sunday, to conduct a thorough every-member canvass.
During the following ten to twelve days, every member of the congregation will be visited personally, and pledges for the year 1936 will be solicited. The house-to-house canvass results will be reported to the pastor, at a meeting of the twelve "key men" on Wednesday evening, Dec. 11.
A social evening for the entire congregation and friends will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 4 in the basement of the church. A good program has been planned. A Christmas sale will be sponsored by the ladies, consisting of fancy work, candy booth, etc.

Baker-Clemons Wedding of Interest

(By Fern Douglas)
Paw Paw—Wedding bells rang on Thanksgiving for the former Miss Elvira Baker and Wilbur Clemons. The wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage at Mendota, Thursday afternoon.
The bride looked lovely in a rust colored crepe trimmed with silver dress. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. James Prentice.
Mrs. Clemons is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Baker. She has lived in Paw Paw all her life and has been a constant companion to her mother. Both she and Mr. Clemons have been earnest workers in the Baptist church.
The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clemons. He graduated from Paw Paw high with the class of 1932 and is well known and liked in the community.
They have started house keeping.

NEWS FLASH
A contest open to everybody over 18 years of age living in or near Dixon, has been announced by The Hunter Company, local dealers for the Leonard Refrigerator Company, to be conducted from December 1 to December 24. The prize will be a Leonard Electric Refrigerator, Model SL-435, and will be awarded to the person submitting the most complete list of Leonard Refrigerator features and the best letter of 50 words or less on the subject, "What Features of a Leonard I Like Best."
Persons desiring to enter the contest may write, telephone or apply in person at The Hunter Company to receive a copy of the free contest folder which explains all the rules and gives helpful suggestions for entrants. Judges for the contest will be selected from a group of prominent local people and will be announced later.
"It is not necessary for persons wishing to enter our contest to make any purchase, but they must secure a copy of the official contest folder to be eligible for entry. Entries may be submitted in any manner, so long as they are legible. The judges will base their decision solely upon the completeness of the features listed and the knowledge of the particular feature written about as shown in the entry."
"We shall be glad to give aid to persons wishing to enter the contest. Demonstrations of Leonards, explaining the various features, are given any time our showrooms are open or by special appointment."
"Another feature of the contest is that if an entrant purchases a Leonard Electric Refrigerator during the period of the contest and later is declared the winner, the prize awarded will be the model purchased, instead of the Model SL-435."
No entries can be accepted from employees of The Hunter Co., or their families nor from the families of judges. THE HUNTER CO., First Street and College Ave., Phone 413.

DO YOU AGREE?

ELF - PRESERVATION and social health are at bottom the same things. Serving not snatching, is the law of life. There are millions of malcontents in the world today whose main object is to seize the honeycomb, not to help the hive.

After all, what is called "a narrow sphere" does not matter much. The broad mind is not much cramped by a narrow sphere.

Let us take courage—there is really nothing menacing the common life today which cannot be made to yield to a change of spirit.

From the toil of "dropping buckets into empty wells, and growing old in drawing nothing up," may commonsense save us.

"What can't be cured were best endured," said Seneca and we ought to be cheerful that a merciful providence kept us from being worse.

To pile the troubles of yesterday on top of the troubles of today, and then add the troubles of tomorrow, makes too big a load.

Envy is one of the meanest of all vices, yet it can be cured by realizing that there is nothing enviable that is not obtainable.

All of us have noticed that things we have wanted have a way of coming after we have ceased to want them—the irony of life!

"Live your life without fear and without regret," a moralist tells us; any callous unscrupulous, scamp can obey such a rule.

There are some men who cannot be imagined as going under in life, and others whom nothing can keep up—not even a life-saver!

How terribly we bore ourselves—going places, doing things, gazing, gossiping—trying to keep from being bored with life.

"Life is full of anxieties," said

Bonar Law. "Yes, but very interesting," replied Lloyd George; and both happened to be right.

Worry is the slow trickle of a tiny rivulet of fear in the mind, and it will wear down our courage if we let it do so.

Some people help us by what they say, others bless us by what they do, and still others lift us because they just are.

Worrell-Ewalt Wedding Celebrated

By Esther Jackson

Ohio—Miss Dorothy Worrell, daughter of Mrs. J. K. Worrell of Ohio, became the bride of Robert Ewalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ewalt, also of Ohio, in an impressive ceremony at noon on Thanksgiving day in the M. P. church of this city. The bride's party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin by Wagner, which was played by Miss Mabel Ewalt, sister of the groom. Preceding the single ring service, which was performed by Rev. F. B. Haynes, pastor of the church, Miss Edna Worrell, sister of the bride sang, "Love's Coronation" by Florence Aylward. Miss Irene Brian was the bride's only attendant and Evan Ewalt, served his brother as best man. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, B. F. Worrell of Palm Beach, Fla.

Following the ceremony, Miss Worrell sang, "Because," by D. Hardelot. The bride and groom proceeded to the vestibule of the church where they received the congratulations and best wishes of their friends, while Miss Ewalt played Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride was charming in a gown of aqua blue crepe and lace with the accompanying accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaid wore a dress of rose colored dress with silver trimmings and wore a shoulder bouquet of tea roses. The groom and his best man were attired in dark colored suits and wore boutonnieres of rose buds. The ushers were William and Paul Ewalt, brothers of the groom. The wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Worrell to the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The tables and the home were decorated with pink roses and white candles. The bride's cake formed the centerpiece for the table at which the bride party were seated.

The guests at dinner were Rev. and Mrs. F. B. Haynes of Ohio, Mrs. C. R. Heaton of Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. William Ewalt and daughter Mabel and sons Evan, William and Paul, Mrs. Charles Meebold of Winona, Minn., B. F. Worrell of Palm Beach, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Nelson and daughters Shirley, Faith and Joan of Batavia, and Rev. and Mrs. Walter F. Martin of Minonk. The dinner was served by the Misses Helen, Julia and Gladys Erickson and Alice Kruger, Mrs. Wilbur Carey and Mrs. Curtis Saltzman.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewalt left in the afternoon for a motor trip and upon their return will begin house-keeping at once in a home which they have prepared in Ohio.

Mrs. Lehman Hostess To Chap. AC, P.E.O.

The members of Chapter AC of the Illinois P. E. O. enjoyed a meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. W. Lehman with Mrs. Raymond Worley the assistant hostess. Miss Clara Armstrong gave a delightful talk on a trip through the south, and other members presented current topics of interest. Plans were discussed for the Christmas meeting to be held on the afternoon of Dec. 16th at the home of Mrs. H. M. Price. At the close of the program, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Labboe Club Celebrated 1st Birthday

The Labboe Club celebrated its first anniversary this month.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Origenes with Mrs. Donald Hollingsworth as hostess, and began with the installation of officers. Other business was then discussed. Little Kent Hollingsworth, first baby to be "born into" the Labboe Club was presented a silver baby spoon with Labboe engraved on the handle. Mrs. Nellie Horton was accepted into the club as a member.

The center of attraction when refreshments were served, and which the ladies and their husbands enjoyed together was a delicious anniversary cake topped with the Labboe Key in silver cake decorations.

Mrs. Hollingsworth read a very clever tribute to Labboe's first president and Mrs. Chas. Lausten gave a brief summary of the year's progress.

Virgil-Knudten Wedding Event of Holiday, Chicago

Miss Marion Virgil, formerly of Amboy, became the bride of Carl Knudten of Chicago at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day at a wedding performed in St. Simon's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Chicago. Dr. C. W. Knudten, pastor of the church and father of the groom performed the single ring ceremony.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Harold Carroll of Amboy, sister of the bride, and H. J. Knudten of Chicago, brother of the groom. The bride was attired in a gown of powder blue more with matching accessories. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink and white roses and gardenias. Her matron of honor wore a gown of russet velvet with accessories to match.

Only immediate families of the couple attended the ceremony, which was followed by a wedding dinner served to the wedding party at the Bismarck hotel.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Longman of Amboy. She was graduated from the Amboy township high school in the class of 1928 and took her nurse's training at Grant hospital, Chicago, from which she was graduated in 1934. Since then she has followed her profession at Grant hospital.

The groom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Knudten, Chicago. He was graduated from Murray P. Tuley high school in 1927 and from the University of Chicago in the class of 1931. He is at present doing market research work in Chicago. The newlyweds will make their home at 553 Oakdale avenue in Chicago. They were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Longman and daughter, Shirley Rae in Amboy.

THE WEEK IN AFRICA

Signor Benito Mussolini's war in Ethiopia is not going at well. Despite the territorial gains made by the Italians, the score is about even. If Duce probably wishes he never had started the war, and no doubt King Haile Selassie of Ethiopia has had enough. The peculiar thing about this war, however, is that Mussolini can't retreat, and Selassie can't make peace until the Italians do retreat. Both leaders have committed themselves.

Among the other nations who have had quite enough of Benito's adventure are England and France. The Italians have an aerial squadron of men pledged to die. They fly bombing planes, each laden with one terrific bomb with which, upon receiving the order, they will dive upon the deck of a threatening British battleship. Such a stunt, of course, would be disastrous to both plane and aviator, and quite conceivably disastrous to the ship. Mussolini's announcement of the existence of such a squadron has caused no end of agitation in London. France, which was bullied by the British into supporting the British program of sanctions, had been having plenty of troubles with internal dissension even before the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, and the British, insisting upon support, have made it ten times worse. France is split into two radically different camps. The French so-called fascists want France to defy England. The French communists and a large element of others not communists want France to help England step on Mussolini. Actual civil war is threatened. Premier Pierre Laval, hounded by the British, threatened by Mussolini and torn between the local fascists and communists, walks the floor at night, fearing he will bet on the wrong horse.

The wily Japanese, taking advantage of Britain's preoccupation with Italy, are having the time of their lives in northern China. They have seized, among other properties, a railway which Britain held as security for a loan to the Chinese government. The British are, in a measure, getting paid in their own counterfeit coin. In 1932, when Japan seized Manchuria, the English drew Secretary Stimson of the United States into opposing the Japs practically alone. Then when we got into a tight corner by writing several brave notes, the British foreign office declared, in effect, it never had heard of Manchuria or Japan, and was not acquainted with the United States.

That encouraged the Japs to take further steps at the first opportune moment. The moment is here and the steps are being taken. The British don't like it and are trying to get further support from the United States, a task which ought to be hard, even for a British diplomat.

The Italo-Ethiopian war is shaking more than the cacti in the Danakil desert. Adolf Hitler, in Germany, who was foxy enough to get out of the league is enjoying himself hugely. The Scandinavian countries are enlarging their armaments. Riots against the white man's rule are taking place in Africa and parts of Asia, and only a little shove could start the ball rolling.

WE WORK BACKWARDS

"The house today adopted a resolution by Representative Lawrence H. Stice, Monmouth democrat, asking Governor Horner and Chairman Benjamin Lindheimer of the Illinois commerce commission to use their influence in protesting against the proposal for dismantling of the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad," says a Springfield dispatch.

"The resolution said abandonment of the road, which operates in Illinois from Peoria to Keithsburg, would mean a loss of taxes, additional unemployment and reduced travel facilities.

"Lindheimer was asked to protest to the interstate commerce commission."

Yes, yes. But what about a resolution pointing out how the railroad is going to get the money to pay the taxes, to keep up the employment, and to maintain travel facilities?

Are the owners of the Minneapolis & St. Louis abandoning their system because they are tired of making money?

The Illinois house of representatives is following the traditional policy of politicians of coming around after the horse has been stolen and demanding that the door be locked.

When is some legislator going to have courage enough to stand in his place on the floor of the chamber and demand that something be done to make it possible for railways to operate at a profit and continue to contribute to the public revenue, and to maintain service to the public?

The government can compel the banks to take its bonds, but the M. & St. L. can't compel anybody to take its bonds. There comes an end to such policies as our politicians have imposed upon our railroads, and the Minneapolis & St. Louis is one of the bitter ends to which they have come.

My expenses were $7200 over a five-month period. But that was my normal life. Parties are normal for me.—Bernard B. Robinson, utility lobbyist.

Women remain the same; only styles change; the chief difference between girls today and years ago is the difference made by more outdoor exercise.—Howard Chandler Christy, noted artist.

How did you (America) push your frontier back? You took possession of it by force from the Indians and Mexico.—Mussolini.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The ladder kept on growing. "Gee, it's just as straight as it can be," said Goldy. "Why, the top of it is almost out of sight."

"If we are game to climb that thing, some real adventure it should bring. I'd like to take a chance, but leaving here just isn't right."

"Our friend, the elf, has been so kind. I dislike leaving him behind. Besides, I think he ought to go with us, to lead the way."

"We don't know what it's all about, and we would get real scared, no doubt. Unless he'll climb the ladder, too I guess with him I'll stay."

The elf just smiled and said:

"Now wait. There is no need to hesitate. I've made this magic ladder grow before your very eyes."

"I know where it will take you to, but, right now, I'm not telling you, 'cause if I did, I'm positive 'twould spoil a nice surprise."

"I promise you'll be safe and sound. If you don't try to sway around. The ladder's strong enough to hold. If you climb steadily."

"Just go ahead and start to climb. You'll head into a real good time. Instead of being frightened, you'll be tickled as can be."

Then Windy loudly cried, "Okay! I'll take your word and lead the way. Come on, you Twinties, follow me and hang on good and tight."

"Goodbye, friend elf! I want to say, I hope we meet again someday." The kind elf waved to them until they all were out of sight.

To Scouty, Windy said, "Don't shove. I see a strange place up above and we will be there shortly. Gee, I can't climb faster, son."

And then they reached a real strange land and Dotty shouted, "This looks grand. Real crazy trees are all around. Here's where we have some fun."

Government's Payroll Like Topsy—Just Keeps Growing

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The government's civil executive payroll increased $2,773,433 during October, with 1,830 new workers added to the rolls.

The increase over the previous month was shown today in a civil service report, which also disclosed there were 110,009 government workers excluding congressional, military and naval, and court workers, in the District of Columbia at the end of October and 686,288 workers outside of Washington.

The whole increase came in "relief" agencies.

TEACHERS OATH AGITATION HAS BEEN GROWING

Legislation Requiring Such Pending in 20 States of Union

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A survey today showed that the movement to require teachers to swear oaths of loyalty has gained much momentum.

Twenty-two states have passed such laws, seven of them in the past year. In 20 other states teachers oath bills are pending or are expected to be introduced when legislatures reconvene.

Vigorous controversy has attended the drive "to uphold the Constitution" is the cry of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Legion and its auxiliary and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In reply, "academic freedom" is being urged by John W. Studebaker, federal commissioner of education, by the National Educational Association and the American Federation of Teachers.

Capitol Storm Center. Because the last congress passed, not only an oath law for the District of Columbia but a law under which teachers here have to sign a statement they did not teach Communism before receiving paychecks, this city has become a storm-center of the struggle.

One argument for teachers' oaths is advanced by Mrs. Vinton Earl Sisson, national defense chairman of the D. A. R., in a recent publication:

"Never have we thought that any public servant endangered his freedom of thought, or speech, by taking an oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, the very bulwark of freedom."

An excerpt from an "academic freedom" resolution passed by the National Educational Association: "The sudden singling out of teachers to take an oath of allegiance is a means of intimidation which can be used to destroy the right of academic freedom."

Sweet Potato Crop Outlook Reported Best In Seasons

A bumper crop of sweet potatoes is in prospect in northern Illinois this winter. The estimated crop in all sweet potato producing states is reported a million bushels larger than in 1934, and five million bushels more than the average crop of preceding years.

Southern consumers will probably eat most of this year's crop while northerners are either growing sweet potatoes on their own farms or buying more in the city markets.

Twenty one states are included in the sweet potato country. Four of these states are classes as northern—Illinois, New Jersey, Indiana and Delaware. The rest of the sweet potato crop from the Atlantic to the Pacific is produced in the South.

After East Texas farmers for years had regarded the "partridge pea" as a harmful weed, Cliff Wells, Franklin county farmer, used it for hay with success and is planning to harvest again.

Brain Trust to Lay Down Diet to Italian Citizens

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

Rome, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Creation of a "brain trust" to remodel the Italian diet along wartime lines was announced today by Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party.

A commission of eminent professors, doctors and hygienists, Starace announced, would instruct all Italians in how to keep healthy on home-grown foods behind the economic barrier raised by the League of Nations for Italy's war on Ethiopia.

"The food problem must be gone over to give us the benefit of the latest scientific research in utilizing national production" his announcement said.

The commission said that 3000 calories a day would be sufficient for the average Italian to live and work in good health.

CREATING THE SUN

HERE is one group of people who love life well enough to see to it that the sun keeps on shining. They are Indians in Mexico who, 2500 strong, assembled in the shadow of the Pyramid of the Sun at San Juan Teotihuacan near Mexico City to conduct the ceremonies for the reincarnation of the Fifth Sun.

The ceremonies are observed in connection with the festival of Xochimilco held on July 26th—one of the big attractions on the route of the popular rail-water trips to Central America and Mexico. The origin of the festival was an outgrowth of the superstitions held by the Aztecs in connection with their calendar. According to their reckoning the years were grouped into 52-year periods, and as each one drew to a close they were struck with a dire dread that the world, too, would end. To forestall this dread happening and to insure the rising of a new sun these ancient people attempted to placate the gods with religious rituals, sacrificial offerings, and strange pagan practices. The climax of the festival was reached at midnight when the officiating priest ascended to the summit of the sacred Pyramid of the Sun—while the world waited in darkness—and performed the ritual of striking new fire by rubbing two sticks together. If the gods permitted a flame to be kindled it was a sign that the sun would rise again. From this flame pine torches were lighted and hurried by fleet runners even to the farthest flung province of the Empire.

The festival as it is held today has lost many of its barbaric features, yet the participants don the colorful costumes of the ancient Aztecs and conduct the traditional rituals inaugurated hundreds of years ago.

Fish Will Support Borah if He Runs

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Representative Fish of New York said Monday he will seek the 1936 Republican presidential nomination unless Senator Borah is a candidate.

Should Borah run, Fish said he would support the westerner. He made the statement after a conference with the veteran Idahoan, the second in two weeks.

Fish was careful, however, not to say whether Borah planned to make the race or whether Borah would support Fish if the New Yorker is a candidate and Borah is not.

The New Yorker told newsmen he would see Borah again upon his return in mid-December from a southern speaking tour. He also said the Senator probably would have a statement to make about the end of the month.

PEEK EXPECTED TO BE CRITICAL IN THE FINAL

Will Attack Recent Trade Treaties of Secretary Hull

Editor's Note—George Peek, center of the following A. P. dispatch, is a former Polo boy, and has many friends in this community.

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The question of just what will be in the valedictory report of George N. Peek, resigned New Deal adviser on foreign trade, intrigued the Capital today.

Peek, whose resignation as adviser to President Roosevelt and president of the two federal export-import banks was announced late yesterday, would not say. Nor would he give reasons for resigning, leaving that to Roosevelt.

But every one knew he had disagreed sharply with methods whereby Secretary Hull seeks to revive world trade through reciprocal international pacts. Moreover, intimates of Peek said his "swan song" report, on possible effects of the new Canadian-American trade agreement, would be "very critical."

Peek had been asked to submit this to the president. The treaty was signed after long negotiations by Hull.

Hull Twice Victor

A reminder of the triumph of the Hull ideas over Peek's within the New Deal came yesterday when Roosevelt proclaimed, not only the Canadian-American pact, but the one with Brazil. This was a formality, making the pacts effective Jan. 1.

Peek, 62-year-old Illinois plow manufacturer, is the latest of half a dozen "little cabinet" men to leave the administration, some of them to become critical of its policies. Jesse Jones, head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will be asked to add Peek's two bank jobs to his other duties. The adviser post will not be filled.

Peek entered the New Deal as its first AAA administrator, but he and Secretary Wallace could not agree. Then he went to the State Department, as adviser to Hull, but again conflict of opinion developed. Later he was named to the posts he has now resigned.

Publicly and otherwise, Peek had been shooting at the Hull policy of negotiating a treaty with a given nation to lower trade barriers, and then extending the treaty's concessions to practically all other nations.

Peek insisted the better way to drive bargains with each nation separately.

"SHY PRINCESS" OF BRITAIN IS DEAD IN LONDON

Victoria, Sister of King George, Mourned by Kingdom

London, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Princess Victoria, 67, sister of King George, died today, causing cancellation of the state ceremonies at the opening of parliament.

Black crepe, draping the colors of Great Britain's red-coated guardsmen marching before Buckingham palace, gave evidence to London residents that the royal family was in mourning. There was widespread sorrow throughout the United Kingdom.

Although virtually unknown to the majority of the British public, the shy Princess Victoria was related to half of the crowned heads of Europe, including Queen Maud of Norway, former Queen Victoria of Spain, Queen Marie of Rumania, King Christian of Denmark and King George of Greece.

Lived in Retirement.
She died at 3:35 A. M., (9:35 P. M., C. S. T. Monday) at her quiet country mansion in Iwer—where she had lived in retirement since the death of her mother, Queen Alexandra—after an unsuccessful blood transfusion by the king's physician, Lord Dawson of Penn.

The immediate cause of her death, which Lord Dawson described as "peaceful" was a stomach hemorrhage. She had been ill about three weeks.

Was Not Married.
The fourth child and second daughter of King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria never married.

Her death was the fourth in the British royal family since the World War. The King's youngest son, John, died in 1919, the Queen Mother Alexandra in 1923 and George's eldest sister Princess Louise, the Princess Royal, in 1931.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

FOUR HEADED CREATOR

SEATED regally on the back of a beautiful white swan, Brahma, great Hindu god of creation, surveys the world from a postage stamp of French India, each of his four heads facing one of the main points of the compass. It is an incongruous picture, for a European state, and Christian at that, to be the first to immortalize this Hindu god in postage stamps, and for him to be seated on the "vahana," or carrier, of his daughter-wife, Saraswati.

Before Brahma married his daughter, he had five heads, the fifth one being on top. But for his immoral marriage, Mahadeva, chief of the Hindu trinity of Brahma, Vishnu, and Mahadeva, punished Brahma by lopping off the top head. The loosened head, however, stuck to Mahadeva's hand and could not be removed, try as he might. So the chief god changed the gruesome head to that of a young antelope, and ever since Mahadeva is shown holding a head of this animal.

The Brahma stamp shown was issued by France, for its possessions in India, in 1929.

Two Months of Italians' Slow Progress in Ethiopia

The relatively slow progress which Italy's invading armies have made in the first two months of their Ethiopian conquest is shown by this map. Since Oct. 2, when the Italians first pushed over the border from Assab, they have advanced about 80 miles in the northern area and about 125 miles in the south, though bombing planes and reconnoitering forces have made deeper forays. Slowness of the campaign is regarded responsible for Marshal Pietro Badoglio's taking over chief command from Gen. Emilio de Bono. Absence of any major battles in the first two months indicates Ethiopians are adhering to their announced plan of drawing the invaders into the interior with little resistance until the Italians reach points for the best defense by untrained warriors.

Million and a Half for WPA is Received

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Receipts of $1,500,000 for works progress administration projects in Illinois was announced today by Robert J. Dunham, WPA administrator.

The money, allocated from Washington, will be applied on already approved projects calling for expenditure of $8,122,365.

Two of the biggest projects benefited by the appropriation will be Mississippi river levees in Madison and St. Clair counties. Work in the former county will cost $1,514,261 and in the latter, $2,047,320. Between 6,000 and 10,000 men will be employed on the levees, officials estimated.

Ralph Burke, deputy administrator, announced a sewer project in Joliet will be carried to completion as originally planned, the city council raising part of the cost by subscription and WPA paying the remainder.

ALBERTA MAN WAS CROWNED GRAIN RULER

Canadian Wheat is Victor Seventh Straight Year

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—W. Freelan Wilford grain farmer from Stavely, Alta., Can., was crowned Wheat King for 1935 at the International Livestock Exposition's 17th annual grain and hay show Monday.

Wilford won the title, one of the major honor of the big farm show, with grain of the "Reward" variety. His sample weighed 66.6 pounds per bushel.

Reserve champion of the wheat growers was another Canadian, Wm. Rogers of Tappen, B. C. He showed Durum of the "Mindun" type. His grain weighed 65.4 pounds per bushel.

Wilford showed hard red spring wheat. The same type won the wheat throne last year for another Alberta grower, Jack Alsopp of Wempey.

This year marked the seventh consecutive victory for Canadian wheat in the International Exposition's competition, which is called the largest of its kind in the world. The judges who had waited for full daylight today to choose the winning sample, said his exhibit was "beautiful grain."

"Reward" wheat, with which Wilford won against competitors from 35 states seven provinces in Canada and eight samples from New South Wales, Australia, was developed by the Canadian government in 1928. The Ottawa government's central experimental farm released it in the spring of that year.

Has Won Championship. Since then it has won the world's championship every year, except in 1931 when Herman Trelle, from Wembley, Alberta, won with a sample of Durum.

The Prince of Wales won first prize in the breeding Shorthorn division with his two year old bull, Bapton Orator.

The blue ribbon animal, called Bapton Orator, because of his voluminous hollow nosed out another Canadian entry, Crugleton Wellington, showed by the Imperial Oil, Ltd. Toronto. Milky Way Prince, shown by Milky Way Farm, Pulaski, Tenn., trailed behind the Canadian entries to take third prize.

The pounce's three entries from his E. P. Ranch at High River, Alberta, have captured the fancy of exposition spectators who daily crowd the stalls where the royal entries are housed.

"Baronet" of the Sni-A-Bar farms, Gran, Valley, Mo., was chosen as best of the three year old Shorthorn bulls. "Sultan Brownie" of the Dellins Farms, Wilson, Ill., won in the senior yearling class of that breed.

Many winners. Other winners included champion Berkshire barrows: Reserve-Iva T. Snowden, Mattoon, Ill. on heavy weights.

Boys and girls of the 4-H club, matching their junior livestock contest steers against the best raised by the adults, carried off many of the early prizes.

Ten-year-old Dean Morgan, Aledo, Ill., barely taller than his glossy back steer won a pink ribbon, meaning fourth prize, when he tugged his blocky pet into the arena. The steer was judged fourth best among Aberdeen Angus entries weighing between 750 and 875 pounds.

James Page of Kellerville, Ill., who in 1933 was the champion stockman of the junior contest, won a second ribbon this year in the open class.

The entry of Edelyn Farms, of Wilson, Edelyn Goldfinger, won second award among junior yearling bulls.

Gets Third. Dreadnaught Jubilee, entry of Mathers Brothers Mason City, won third in the breeding Shorthorn class for three year old bulls.

Fourth place among the two year old breeding Shorthorn bulls also went to Mathers brothers who showed Dreadnaught Signal in that event.

James Parish of Decatur and Ralph Hane, of Maroa, both 4-H club boys, took third and sixth prizes respectively when they entered their junior feeding contest steers in the open class for Aberdeen Angus animals weighing 1000 to 1150 pounds.

Betty Parkman of Aledo, Ill., a girl who has showed cattle in several 4-H club contests, took the fifth place yellow ribbon. Kenneth Kinsinger of Chenoa won the blue ribbon.

The University of Illinois, showing Poland Chinas, won the following awards:

Sixth, barrow 180-220 pounds; third, barrow 220-260 pounds; fourth, pen of three barrows, 220-260 pounds; fifth, pen of three, 260-300 pounds.

WHEAT PRICES CAUSED MARKET FLUCTUATIONS

War Scare Caused Sharp Jump; Only Temporary

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Active buying on another Europe war scare advanced wheat prices sharply for a time, both the December and May working slightly above the dollar mark, but with the dissipation of war fears the market slipped back again losing about all the gains.

During the past week the market at Chicago has had a range of approximately 3 cents a bushel. In addition to the war scare there was a modest improvement in export buying for a time, but this did not last long, and foreign markets developed a heavy tone, except for Buenos Aires which has held quite firm the past few days.

The situation in Canada where the disposal of the huge surplus is still proceeding slowly, continues to dominate the world situation. Foreign buying has not been active, and the fact that world's shipments last week were only a little more than 8,000,000 bu., did not seem to perturb European buyers to any extent.

Australian crop estimates indicate about the same surplus as last year, while the Argentine surplus will be much smaller, but it is expected both countries will offer wheat freely from now on. Harvest has begun in northern Argentina and is well advanced in Australia. Late European cables forecast smaller Russian exports and an improvement in the Oriental demand.

In this country the movement is about the same as last week, and the visible supply showed only a small decrease—160,000 bu. Stocks in sight are decreasing much slower than expected. Flour buying dropped to small proportions again, but production keeps up fairly well.

The "dust bowl" in the west end of the winter wheat belt received good rains the past few days, and moisture conditions in general are much better than a year ago at this time.

The domestic cash wheat situation shows little change, premiums holding well in all markets. The corn market has been a choppy affair. General rains over the belt again checked selling operations, while increasing receipts tended to put a damper on buying. As a result prices have held within a comparatively narrow trading range. While the primary movement has increased substantially, only a small per cent of contract grade corn has been received. Cash corn prices showed a considerable decline relative to the futures.

Oats price range has been extremely narrow. Primary receipts are still fairly liberal. Rye has shown a somewhat steadier tendency recently. Provisions trade has been of moderate volume, with no decided trend. Loose lard is slightly easier, while the demand for meats has improved.

Red river, which separates Oklahoma from Texas on the south, got its name through being fed in part by the waters of Red Creek, Mud creek, Muddy Boggy creek and Deep Red run.

MILK INCOME ROSE DURING NINE MONTHS

Higher Than Last Year By Nearly 150,000,000

Farm income from milk was 968 million dollars during the first nine months of 1935 compared with 842 million dollars last year. This is an increase of 15 per cent compared with a gain of but 5.2 per cent in farm income as a whole, the Sealtest System Laboratories, Inc. points out in an analysis of retail milk prices and their effect on milk producers' income.

This substantial increase in dairy farmers' milk checks in excess of the gain in farm revenues as a whole is particularly interesting inasmuch as available data indicates that the public has consumed about 3 per cent less milk in all forms during the first nine months of this year than it did in 1934. This decline is caused primarily by lower butter consumption. This being so, the natural assumption would be that retail prices must have been materially higher in 1935 to bring about such a marked improvement in dairy farmers' income. This, however, is not the case.

A comparison of retail prices of fluid milk, butter and cheese, the dairy products that figure most prominently in the housewife's budget, indicates that the average increase in the price of a quart of milk for the first nine months of this year over 1934 has been but 5 per cent. Similarly, a pound of butter has averaged 146. per cent higher, and a pound of cheese 8.3 per cent higher. When the relative importance of different milk products in the housewife's budget are weighed, the average increase in the retail price of dairy products is found to be about 8.8 per cent, compared with a 11.9 per cent increase for all foods, and the 15 per cent increase in dairy farmers' income mentioned above.

The percentage increase in dairy farmers' income is larger than the corresponding increase in retail prices. This seemingly anomaly is explained when one considers that the operating costs of milk distributing companies and cheese and butter manufacturers are more or less fixed. During a period of rising prices, therefore, the major portion of the increased price paid by the consumer reverts directly to the producer.

This improvement in dairy farmers' purchasing power is encouraging. Of more significance to the producers, pocketbooks, however, are scattered indications of increased consumption by the general public of milk in fluid form. The Department of Agriculture, in commenting on the receipts of milk and cream at Boston, New York and Philadelphia, points out that in July and August "milk receipts were somewhat larger than in the same months of the preceding year. This would seem to indicate that the decline in milk consumption in these markets is about over. With increases in city employment and business recovery, the outlook is for increased city consumption of milk and cream."

An analysis of the New York market alone shows that for the first nine months of this year milk receipts were slightly larger than in the same months of 1934.

Total consumption of fluid milk and cream in cities declined about 6.3 per cent from 1930, the peak year, to 1934. If the consumption trend in these three major markets is indicative of the country as a whole, the dairy industry can look to the future with added confidence. Regaining the 6.3 per cent loss in fluid milk consumption during the depression would mean a material gain in dairy

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

The Christmas market is the last good market of the year. And, so far as we in the country are concerned, it will be over this week.

After you have sold your chickens it takes from two to three weeks, you know, for them to reach a meat market in any eastern city. That means the chickens you sell this week will get into the shops just in time for people to buy them for Christmas.

So I certainly advise you to sell any young cockerels you have left this week.

With prices of all products going up today and down tomorrow, I don't know anyone who would have the courage to predict what poultry would be worth even a month from now.

But it doesn't seem to me that anyone needs to consider what springs are going to be worth after the first of the year. What interests me—and what I think interests you—is the fact that you can sell them for a good price right now.

Spring chickens are worth two and a half times as much as they were two years ago. The heavier birds are bringing a dollar apiece.

So far as hens are concerned, you are doing exactly what I would do if I were in your place. You're keeping them. With egg prices satisfactory and plenty of feed, there's no question but that it's the thing to do.

Keep your hens—but sell your springs! And do that this week! There's no reason to keep them and risk their becoming stags, especially when you can sell them now for holiday prices!

Sincerely yours,

farm income because producers receive their highest price for milk consumed in fluid form. Naturally, more milk in bottles on consumers' doorstep means higher average prices to dairy farmers.

Boone Farmer Kills Silver Fox Caught North of Belvidere

James Kirane, farmer of Boone county who lives two miles northwest of Belvidere, recently caught and killed a silver fox that he had suspected for killing his poultry and carrying away guineas and other fowls.

Kirane saw the animal slinking through the weeds near his barn and seizing a shotgun he started to trail the fox, later overtaking and killing it. The pelt was reported in good condition.

The catch was the first of a silver fox in the wild in these parts in years. The animal, in its natural haunts is rare, but is raised in considerable numbers on many silver fox farms. None of these farms near Belvidere reported any of their animals missing.

Lee Farmers Urged To Allow Release Of Many Pheasants

Pheasants are now being released in Lee county and farmers desiring pheasants should see Conservation Inspector Charles Duis.

Farmers in North and South Dakota have raised large numbers of pheasants and during the hunting season allow hunters on their farms at a dollar per hunter. This has proved a source of considerable revenue.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: wheat decreased 934,000; corn increased 1,451,000; oats increased 942,000; rye increased 112,000; barley increased 791,000.

RYE CONTRACTS TO BEGIN SOON

Sign-up of Lee county farms under the new AAA rye adjustment program will begin following a county educational meeting at Harmon on December 17th, it was announced by J. E. Mau, president of the Lee County Wheat Production Control Association. During this meeting, complete details of the rye program will be explained and producers will be given an opportunity to sign applications.

Signing will be continued in the county headquarters of the wheat association at Amboy for several days following the county meet.

Since the rye program is patterned very closely after the four-year wheat program now being placed into operation in Lee county, it will be administered by the wheat association. This will mean a substantial saving in local administrative costs, said President J. E. Mau. Local expenses for the rye program are to be paid by cooperating producers and will be deducted on a pro rata basis from the second installment of the adjustment payment for each year, the president added.

The rye contract and the wheat contract contain the same terms except where minor changes have been made on account of the differences between the two crops.

One of these changes concerns the farm allotment upon which the adjustment payments are based. In the rye program the payments will be based on 30 per cent of the farmer's base production instead of 54 per cent as in the case of wheat.

This is because 30 per cent of the normal rye production is used for domestic human consumption as compared to 54 per cent of the normal wheat crop. Rye processing taxes are being levied on approximately 30 per cent of the normal annual crop.

The rye contract application which will be offered to Lee county producers for their signatures during the sign-up period will be very similar to the wheat contract application. It does not constitute a binding agreement, but merely provides that eligible producers will have an opportunity to sign the actual contracts later.

The rye that Lee County farmers sow for hay and pasture will not be limited by the signing of rye adjustment contracts during the coming four years, according to Mr. Mau, president of the Lee County Wheat Production Control Association.

Adjustment in rye acreage will be made on the basis of rye harvested for grain. The total acreage seeded will have no bearing on adjustments.

This basis of adjustment for rye was adopted because rye is used for purposes other than as grain and because the abandonment of rye varies widely from year to year. It is expected that with the adjustment being made on the basis of the harvested acreage, there will be a more stable production of this crop each year.

The contract calls for each contracting farmer to harvest as grain not more than 75 per cent of his base rye acreage for each contract year. However, if it appears early in any season that the rye producers will be able to market more than the apparent production from the 75 per cent of the base acreage, the Secretary of Agriculture may proclaim that a larger acreage may be harvested as grain.

Producers may seed as much rye as they wish, provided they do not harvest more than the 75 per cent or other proclaimed amount of acreage to be harvested as grain.

With this plan of unlimited seedings and with the adjustment on harvested acreage only, it is expected that ample rye for all domestic requirements will be assured each year.

ROOSEVELT TO ATTRACT LARGE FARM AUDIENCE

One of the largest farmer audiences ever gathered under one roof will listen to President Roosevelt when he addresses the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation at 10:00 A. M. in Chicago December 9, according to information received by the Lee County Farm Bureau from the Illinois Agricultural Association today. Tickets of admittance have been allocated to the counties and Illinois will send a large delegation.

The Illinois Agricultural Association wants any who plan to hear President Roosevelt that admittance will be by ticket only and the deadline for admittance is 9:30 A. M.

Even though the amphitheater at the Stock Yards holds many thousands of people, requests for tickets from all over the United States have been so enormous that it will be virtually impossible to seat all those who wish to attend.

The A. F. B. F. convention runs for three days, December 9-11 and promises to be one of the most spirited in the history of the organization.

Railroads have announced reduced rates of fare and one-third from December 1 to December 9 with a 30-day return limit.

All of the convention sessions except the morning President Roosevelt speaks will be held in the Hotel Sherman.

OGLE COUNTY HAS PRIZE-WINNING CORN RAISERS

Ogle county corn raisers were awarded prizes in a corn show recently held in Rockford.

In the amateur class, Howard Schoonhoven of Chana was first place winner in which forty-four exhibits were entered. Other winners in this class were E. M. Leonard, Byron, Elwin Eckerd, Oregon; Blanche Champlain, Chana; Harry Champlain, Chana; Francis Anderson, Chana; and Francis Geiken, Chana, route one.

In the professional class, Edwin F. Anderson of Chana was first place winner while second and third places were won by Robert Simmons, Stockton and J. W. Warner, Oregon. White corn class winners were Francis Geiken, Chana; Hugh Blake, Lead River; Charles Reed, Oregon, while in the 4-H club division winners in consecutive order from first to last were Helen Anderson, Chana; Robert Anderson, Chana; Darrell Prindle, Rochelle; Wallace Rankin, Chana, and Dick Geiken, Chana.

In calico corn division Edwin F. Anderson, Chana was first, and Charles Reed, Oregon second.

CONGRESS MAY BE ASKED FOR FURTHER DOLE

Possibility is Under Discussion Today in Washington

Washington Dec. 3.—(AP)—Talk that the administration may possibly deem it necessary to ask congress for more "dole" money, despite the New Deal effort to scrap this form of relief, was heard today in "informed" quarters.

This possibility was under discussion in one part of town while in another the house appropriations committee sat down to preliminary work on the budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

These two vast problems—relief and the budget—are intertwined. Most experts agree the size of the relief appropriation will be a major factor in determining the extent of next year's deficit.

Chairman Buchanan (D-Tex.) of the appropriations committee has expressed hope of cutting the deficit from an estimated $3,281,000,000 this year to $500,000,000 next.

But most committee members see little chance to making any really sizeable savings anywhere except on relief funds. If recommendations for large spending on relief should coincide with demands for budget balancing the appropriations committee's annual headache would be unusually severe this year.

F. D. R. Undecided.

Though talk of a possible "dole" in the future is heard in informed quarters, there is no indication that the man at the top—President Roosevelt—has made up his mind. Declaring that the peak of federal spending is past, he is believed to be waiting until the eleventh hour to see how many jobs are absorbed in private industry and how much distress remains before making his decision on relief needs.

The federal government recently informed the states that henceforth they would receive no more direct relief (dole) funds and that the responsibility of caring for the aged, infirm and other "unemployables" would be theirs.

Watch Situation.

However, officials are known to be keeping an attractive eye on the "unemployables" situation. Special significance is attached to a disclosure that Harry L. Hopkins, relief chief, has ordered special studies of their plight.

Protests have been heard that states and local communities are unable to carry the relief burden. It is also noted that the District of Columbia government announced today a 2 per cent cut in payments to all relief clients here, attributing this to withdrawal of federal aid.

In Nevada, during 1929, there were 442 divorces for every 1000 marriages.

INSURANCE CODE
GIVEN LEASE ON LIFE BY DISPUTE*Disagreement Over Securing Bill May Permit Code's Passage

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—The legislature's procrastination on old age pensions today had given a lease on life to the insurance code and other special session issues not concerned with social security.

While assembly and administration leaders studied the problem of qualifying for Federal aid through amendments to the $30 a month old age pension plan, backers of the voluminous insurance code were confident that the Senate would send it to the House this week.

It took five weeks of the first special session to get the code, sponsored by Insurance Director Ernest Palmer, to the roll call stage in the Senate, where it failed to pass during the closing weeks of the regular session in June.

Before Thanksgiving, the prospect was that the insurance bill would have to be abandoned if the session came to an end with action confined only to pensions and similar matters.

May Get Action
If the dispute over pension amendments continues, however, it may be possible to get both Houses to approve the insurance code before sine die adjournment, which might not come until after the first of the year. There has been little open opposition during recent weeks to the proposal to rewrite and strengthen the insurance laws.

A similar status is held by bills proposing the licensing of automobile drivers and other forms of highway safety promotion, some of which also would create a traffic board to regulate the trucking industry.

The House met this morning, but the major action is expected when the Senate reconvenes in the evening. The upper House calendar includes the old age pension bill, which is on the amendment stage, the insurance code and the township pauper relief tax program, which has been the basis of a bitter Chicago-downstate scrap.

Speaks at Church

I. W. MILLER.

County Superintendent of Lee County schools for the past twenty-five years, who will speak at the Brethren church Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock. Few men are more widely known in this part of the state, and perhaps none is held in higher esteem than Mr. Miller. His keen interest in character building among the youth and his many years of experience in the educational system as it relates to the training of boys and girls, make him a highly respected and outstanding leader of this community. The Brethren church is pleased to have him speak for them next Sunday night. There will be a few special numbers of music in connection with his address. The public is invited to attend this service.

NEW TREASURY ISSUES TAKEN IN SINGLE DAY

Washington, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The treasury's books were closed today on its $300,000,000 financing venture. Full subscription in one banking day evoked expressions of "delight" from Secretary Morgenthau.

The bankers, their coffers overflowing with surplus cash, quickly took up the issues of notes and bonds designed to finance winter relief and give the government some "pocket money."

With the loan, the public debt rose to $30,500,000,000, a new top. The issues were $450,000,000 in 1 1/2 per cent notes and the same amount in 2 1/2 per cent bonds of 1945-47, and constituted the largest bloc of financing in a year.

In addition to this offering of securities for cash, holders of $418,000,000 in 2 1/2 per cent treasury notes maturing Dec. 15 may exchange them for additional notes or bonds of the new issue.

With the new cash the treasury's working balance is expected to be about $2,000,000,000, unless there is a heavy outflow in the next couple of weeks.

Canadian Trade Agreement Now

The Illinois Agricultural Association is giving careful study to the recent Canadian tariff agreement but is withholding comment until a later date, according to reports received by the Lee County Farm Bureau.

In the face of the hue and cry throughout the country following the announcement of the tariff agreement, the IAA reports that preliminary study indicates the effect on the corn belt was greatly exaggerated. However, a detailed statement will be forthcoming from the Association at an early date.

Since Jan. 1, 1935, the federal government has spent in Hawaii $21,200,000 for construction projects, maintenance of army and navy services and unemployment relief.

Once a Pal, Always a Pal, Will Rogers'
Way With Cowboy He Knew Back On Range

A pal was always a pal to Will Rogers, whether he was in funds or down to the place where he couldn't remember when he had jingling money.

An incident illustrative of the humanity of the man is told by Harvey Couch, president of the Arkansas Power and Light Company. They were starting out together on the tour that Rogers made in 1931 in behalf of sufferers of the drought.

"As we left the hotel," Couch said, "I noticed a cowboy waiting to speak to Will. Will recognized him immediately, and talked to him a few minutes. As we got into the car, Will said: 'That's one of my old cowboy friends. We have ridden herd together, eaten together and slept together on the range. Things ain't so good with him right now but I'm always glad to see him. Underneath those old clothes, there's real character and a kind heart.'"

"I looked back at the cowboy and the startled pleasure on his face told me what Rogers had not, that when they shook hands goodbye, Rogers had felt a roll of bills in the cowboy's hand."

With the announcement that handicapped children will be the principal beneficiaries of the Will Rogers Memorial Fund, there is a renewed interest in the opportunity of Will Rogers friends to participate in a living, continuing memorial to perpetuate his friendliness to mankind.

Take or send your subscription to this bank or bring it or send it to this office. It is the aim of the Commission to have millions of Will Rogers friends participate with a contribution. It is not the size of the subscription but the act itself that is important.

Two Edwardsville
Boys Held To Jury

Edwardsville, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Two 15-year-old boys, Everett Rambo and James Jarrett, have been held without bail for the grand jury following a coroner's jury verdict of homicide in the burglary-slaying of John C. Higgins, Madison County Deputy Treasurer.

State's Attorney Lester Geers said he would present the case to the next grand jury, scheduled to meet Jan. 13.

Geers, principal witness at the inquest Saturday, read signed statements which he said were obtained from the boys. He said both boys attempted to burglarize Higgins' home last Tuesday morning and that Rambo shot and killed Higgins when the county official was aroused and grappled with the youth.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After the death of her parents, lovely DANA WESTBROOK, child of her mother's second marriage, comes to America to live with her grandmother, MRS. WILLIAM CAMERON.

Dana's half-sister, NANCY WALLACE, feels resentful toward Dana.

Mrs. Cameron secretly hopes Dana will make a brilliant marriage. She is elated when rich RONALD MOORE becomes interested in her young granddaughter.

Lonely Nancy masks her love for Ronald behind an antagonistic attitude.

Meanwhile, Dana and DR. SCOTT STANLEY become attracted to each other. PAULA LONG, desperately in love with Scott, watches his interest in Dana deepen.

Dana is caught in a storm, Scott overpowers her and carries her to his home, nearby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

DANA repeated Scott's words, her eyes widening. "This is where you live? But how?"

"I was looking out the window," he told her, "and cursing my luck to have a storm like this come up while my car's in the shop. And then I saw you. There wasn't anything to do but go after you."

Dana was looking about the room. It was wide and cozy, with easy chairs, a fireplace and bookshelves filled with books. An old room, Dana saw, but it had escaped shabbiness. It even had distinctive panelling. The rugs were old, but they had once been good. A lamp glowed cheerfully on the table where books and magazines were scattered.

She nodded appreciatively. "It's a nice room."

Scott said, "I wanted you to like it. And now we'll have to find you something dry and get you out of those wet things. I'll build a fire to dry your dress and shoes. Then I'll call a taxi."

"Oh, no," Dana protested. "If you have a coat you can lend me I'll just slip it over my dress."

"Listen," Scott said firmly. "I'm a doctor, but I don't want you as a pneumonia patient." He flung open the door of the adjoining room. "You'll find a dressing robe in the closet."

Dana found herself obeying. She stepped into the next room, caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror. Her wet hair straggling across her white cheeks, and her bare feet were a sight to make her blush.

Her dress clung to her body. Water was dripping from her soaked white sandals. Scott was probably right; she might be ill if she didn't change. And besides it was mighty uncomfortable being wringing wet.

DANA emerged a few minutes later in a gayly striped dressing robe, wrapped about her slim body and securely tied. On her feet were Scott's bedroom slippers.

"I thought," she explained, "that as long as I was ordered to change I might as well put on these, too."

A grin spread over Scott's face. Dana said, a little ruefully, "I know I'm funny-looking."

"Yes, you are," Scott agreed. "But, even in that outfit you're quite adorable. I'm going now to change my suit. Lucky I have an other one!"

While Scott was dressing Dana spread her wet dress on the brass fender and placed her shoes near the fire.

Scott returned quickly, having contrived, somehow, to look immaculate without appearing stiffly groomed. He went to the telephone and called a number.

Dana heard his voice protesting. "But this is an emergency. I've got to have a taxi. Get one out here and I'll make it worth your while."

He hung up and called another number, with no greater success. Then he came to the door and stood there, frowning a little.

Dana sat on a footstool near the fire, the light bringing out the bronze gleams in her hair. She looked very slight and boyish with the man's robe belted about her. Her feet lost in Scott's leather bed room slippers.

"All the taxi places say they have a waiting list a mile long. It means an hour's wait, at least."

Dana said cheerfully. "Well, that's all right—now that I'm good and dry."

"I was all kinds of an idiot to bring you here," Scott said slowly. "Regardless of the fact that you're an ornament to my hearthstone I'm going to have to get you home in a hurry. While we're waiting for your dress to dry and the taxi to show up I'll stir up some eggs and make coffee. Sorry there's not much else to offer. The only meal I have here is breakfast, and I didn't foresee that my car would be in the shop at the same time the elements would choose to play the devil."

"The elements were still playing the devil," Dana thought. Rain was pouring against the window panes as though a giant hand were dashing buckets of water from above. Now and then there was a roar of thunder followed by vivid streaks of lightning. But there was a feeling of security in the cozy, unpretentious room with the firelight playing softly on the sunny surface of old wood and bringing out the warm tones of the rug.

"Let me help," Dana offered. "Can you cook?"

"Try me," Dana boasted. "No body can make a better omelet. It's one of my specialties."

"Just for that bragging I'm going to turn the kitchen over to you," Scott said.

"All right. But first I'll call Grandmother and tell her not to worry."

She got Aunt Ellen on the phone. The receiver against her ear crackled alarmingly, followed by an ominous roar of thunder.

Dana said quickly, "I'm having dinner with a friend, Aunt Ellen. I'll be home later."

It wasn't possible to go into details with a storm roaring about your ears. Besides it would require a lot of explaining to tell the whole story. No use worrying them all for nothing. When they heard just how it had all happened they couldn't blame her.

Newspapers next day were to record that the storm was one of the worst that had struck the town in years to describe the uprooting of trees and how tops were lifted from frail houses and lines of communication blown down.

A terrific crash of thunder, following a vivid streak of lightning, sent Dana running to Scott. For a moment her head was hidden against his shoulder.

"Steady, there!" came Scott's reassuring voice, his arm tightening about her.

Dana lifted a white face. "And I've always said I liked Mother Nature in any old mood," she said.

"Mother Nature's got a jag on tonight," Scott said thoughtfully. He still had his arm around her but dropped it abruptly. "The old girl's drunk with power. It has just occurred to me that I didn't put my house number on that mile long list—though I doubt if taxis will be navigated in a storm like this."

HE was gone quite a while. When he returned his expression was sober.

"The phone's out," he said. "Dana, I'm afraid this is serious. If the storm doesn't let up—"

"Don't worry," Dana said, trying not to reveal her own concern. "It can't be very late. It can't keep up much longer."

"You'd think it would have blown itself out long ago with such violence. But you never can tell—"

There wasn't a doubt that Scott was worried. Dana thought. And it was all her fault.

Scott said dryly, "Storm or no storm, folks aren't very charitable." "Gossip, you mean?"

"Gossip, scandal—whatever you want to call it. That wouldn't be so very nice for you, Dana."

"Or for you," Dana said gravely. "After all, you're starting a career and people might be prejudiced against a doctor mixed up in a scandal."

Scott shook his head. "That's all right—but the worst of it would fall on you." He considered her frowning.

Dana's natural optimism came to her rescue. "Let's not get upset before we've eaten dinner. Anyway it just isn't possible for such a torrent to last much longer."

They drew the table before the fire which was still burning brightly, the wood crackling merrily as though in defiance of the gloomy elements.

Later they washed the dishes, dried them, and then came back to the living room.

Scott tried the telephone again and reported failure. Meanwhile Dana had put on her dress and sandals, which she declared were perfectly dry.

Once Scott opened the front door but met such a cold reception from the black furies outside that he closed it quickly. He came over to the fire and sat down near Dana. She looked sweet and courageous he thought, seemingly unconscious of her rumpled linen frock, her lovely eyes meeting his calmly. Any other girl he knew, in a similar situation, would be having hysterics.

Scott said slowly, "I'm afraid a taxi couldn't get here even if it could call one. The worst of it is, this hurricane may blow all night."

THE room was warm and cozy. In the fireplace flames leaped and crackled, but not loud enough to drown out the sound of the rain. In the room, Dana drew toward the fire.

"Let's talk," she said to Scott. "It won't do any good to worry. And the storm can't last all night."

"She's right," Dana said. "The storm?" came Dana's sleepy query.

"Gone where all storms should go." He had a long raincoat on his arm. And when Dana stood up, he supported her with one arm while he slipped the coat about her.

"Good night," Dana said. "Good night," Scott said.

For a while she watched Scott. His hand rested against the cushioned back of a deep chair. His eyes were on the fire embers. How attractive he was. And how nice. Then she must have slept.

She was awakened by Scott's voice. "Everything's shipshape."

The fire burned lower. After a while a silence closed down, broken occasionally by Dana's voice and then by Scott's.

"Funny," Dana thought. "It's not necessary to talk with him unless you want to. There's never any need to pretend. And yet she had never been so alert. There was a feeling of vibrancy in the silence."

Scott said, "It's 12:30. Suppose you lie down on the sofa while I keep watch. I promise to wake you as soon as there is a sign the storm's letting up."

Dana went to the comfortable-looking divan in the corner, tucked a pillow under her head and pulled a coverlet over her. It was knitted in bright blocks. She suspected it was the handiwork of Scott's mother.

"Good night," Dana said. "Good night," Scott said.

For a while she watched Scott. His hand rested against the cushioned back of a deep chair. His eyes were on the fire embers. How attractive he was. And how nice. Then she must have slept.

TODAY in SPORTS

INDUSTRIAL LOOP ROSTERS ARE COMPLETE

Independent Teams Begin Play at H. S. Tonight

Complete line-ups of Industrial League basketball teams which swing into action at 7:15 P. M. today on the Dixon high school gymnasium floor, were announced this morning by Manager Paul Potts.

The five teams entered in the league are the Beiers Loaders, who will defend their 1934-35 championship, the I. N. U. Co. Ashton, Knacks Leaders, and a newcomer, the Rink's Coalers.

The Beiers will tangle with the Knacks in the opener tonight at 7:15 P. M. followed at 8:15 P. M. by a contest between Ashton and the I. N. U. quart. The Rink's Coalers who drew a bye in the opening week's slate will referee the games.

Teams Given

Following are the teams and their members: Beiers: E. Flanagan, Red Flanagan, L. Bellows, Al Boyd, K. Hasselberg, Potts, Charlie Kourdy, J. N. U. Co. Ashton: Eddie Greve, George Lebre, Gene Lebre, Ker Abbott, G. Curtis, Ken Haines, J. Withers, Dan Fane, K. Emmert, Ashton, G. Vaupel, G. Vaupel, G. Ogle, Maye, Luanger, Zoeller, and Ulrich; Rink's Coalers: Buchanan, Holland, B. Boye, L. Melvin, Fordham, Wenzel, Freeman, Cortright, and L. Brown, Knack's Leaders: Cinnamon, Barryman, B. Underwood, McIntire, L. Miller, Windmiller, Mansfield, Furling, Finch, G. Fane and Rosenkrans.

All of the teams are stronger than they were last year and several new players will appear in action. Each team has fortified its list with talent from quints which played last year; trades have been made and it is believed better balance has been achieved. As a consequence nearly all games should be close this winter. Although the Dixon State Hospital Yellowjacket are not entered in the league this winter, two of their best players will be seen in the line-up of the Knack's Leaders. They are Wendy Windmiller and "Slim" Mansfield.

Rule Changes To Occupy Session

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Preparation of schedules, discussion of proposed rule changes and the usual routine business were on the program of the annual meeting of the North Central conference today.

Dates and places for championship meets were to be selected and the 1935 All Star football team named.

A brisk discussion of the junior college transfer student rule in connection with athletic eligibility appeared likely. It was expected that it would be determined definitely whether a transfer from a junior college who has completed his two years of work shall be eligible for athletics immediately upon entering a North Central conference school.

YELLOWJACKETS MEET NEW FIVE

Shamrocks Organize for Season; Make Ninth Quint

A new Dixon basketball team has joined the ranks of the eight teams already representing this community. It has been named the Dixon Shamrocks and will play its first game against the Dixon State Hospital Yellowjackets at hospital gymnasium, Thursday evening.

The Shamrocks are composed of youths of high school age who are not competing on the regular Dixon high school basketball teams. Starting against the State Hospital Thursday night will be Kabecky, Reynolds, Cruthoff and the Dempsey brothers.

Captain "Slim" Mansfield of the State Hospital five announced the replacement of Bing Miller with Jones, a six foot, three inch forward. "Ging" was quite seriously injured last week in the Lee Center game when he was thrown against a hook that protruded from the wall near one of the baskets. The remainder of the line-up for the Yellowjackets will consist of Windmiller, center; Doty, forward; Mansfield, guard, and Wyreman, guard.

Although Mendota high school has only veterans returning upon which Coach R. E. Dewitz can form a nucleus for his 1935-36 basketball team, the Blue and Gold boys anticipate a good year.

The veterans returning are Gilkey, a guard, and Pauer, center. A bright outlook for the minor team is apparent this winter also. A heavy schedule has been arranged in which Mendota meets Dixon here, January 10, and at Mendota February 14.

Dec. 13—Mendota at Princeton. Dec. 20—Belvidere at Mendota. Jan. 3—Mendota at Sterling. Jan. 7—LaMoille at Mendota. Jan. 10—Mendota at Dixon. Jan. 14—Mendota at Amboy. Jan. 17—Rochelle at Mendota. OPPOSITION TO OLYMPIC ENTRY IS INCREASING

Coaches Claim Nazis are Using Games for Their Own Ends

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Forces opposing American participation in the 1936 Olympic games if they are held in Germany gained new allies today with 14 college coaches and a United States senator voicing opposition.

In a statement addressed to the Amateur Athletic Union and the American Olympic committee, the coaches said:

"True sportsmanship becomes impossible and sport is prostituted when sport loses its independent and democratic character and becomes a political institution devoted to political ends rather than the interests of sport.

"We are convinced that this is what happened in Nazi Germany and that Nazi Germany is endeavoring to use the 11th Olympiad to serve the necessities and interests of the Nazi regime rather than the Olympic ideals."

Among the signers were John J. Magee of Bowdoin, Olympic coach in 1924, 1928 and 1932; Chick Ryder, track and field coach at Boston College.

Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.), a native of Germany, made public in Washington a telegram to the committee on fair play in sports.

"Americans should not participate in the Olympic games," he said. "International sport becomes a travesty upon the universal good-will that it is supposed to exemplify when the center of the festival is a place where good-will of man toward all men is languishing."

NEGROES DESIRE ENTRY

Chicago, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Five negro track and field stars, Jesse Owens, Ralph Metcalfe, Eulace Peacock, Ben Johnson and Cornelius Johnson, have written to Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, favoring American participation in the Olympic games at Berlin.

Metcalfe, a member of the 1932 American team, said, in commenting on opposition to United States entry in the games because of alleged racial and religious discrimination by Germany's Nazi government, that he "felt that no political situation should alter plans for the coming games in Berlin."

All five Negro aces are regarded as standouts for places on the American squad.

HORSES NAMED FOR BIG SANTA ANITA CLASSIC

List May Grow To 80 by February 22, Date of Race

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Seventy-five of the country's finest thoroughbreds were named today for the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap Feb. 22. Chances were good that the list would grow to 80.

With five more nominated than were listed for the inaugural last spring, indications were that the race would be faster and the winning purse larger than the world's record figure of $108,400 Azucar won.

While such big names as Equipoise and Twenty Grand that graced the list a year ago were missing, the long parade of fine runners included: Discovery, top stake horse of the year; Azucar, 1935 winner; Top Row, which earned more than $100,000 in purses last season; and Cavalcade, 1934 Kentucky Derby winner.

More Return

Besides Azucar and Top Row, those returning for the classic will be Ladysman, second place winner, Time Supply, which was third; Ted Clark, which set the pace most of the way; Head Play and Riskulus.

Nominations posted in the mail before midnight last night were eligible. The race now is worth $107,500 and the value was expected to jump close to $130,000 depending on the number of entries at $250 a head the day before the race and $750 more for each that goes to the post.
